

Turning Point Scotland Perth & Kinross Service

Turning Point Scotland Perth & Kinross provides support to people with learning disabilities and associated challenging behaviours.

The aim of the service is to enable the people we support to live as independent and fulfilling lives as possible while providing a high level of intensive support depending on their individual needs.

Our experienced staff team are trained to work with individuals with composite forensic histories who have been involved in the criminal justice system and at times have displayed anti-social behaviour.

Turning Point Scotland Perth & Kinross

Turning Point Scotland's Perth & Kinross service was established in 2007 and has grown to develop strong relationships with local stakeholders in health, social services and other agencies to ensure positive wrap around supports. The service has also developed a sound knowledge of local resources and activities for the people they support.

Turning Point Scotland has an established reputation across the country for successfully supporting adults with complex needs, through person centred approaches.

What we do

Perth & Kinross offers support in a variety of settings e.g. single, shared accommodation, support 24/7, to a few hours a week, depending on a person's needs. Each person has a key support worker who will work with them, their families, carers and other relevant agencies to draw up a support plan. This will cover a range of day to day living, including vocational and social activities.

The service aims to:

- Provide high quality services based on person-centred principles
- Comply with SSSC Codes of Practice and in accordance with National Care Standards
- To ensure the people we support have a varied lifestyle and encourage full involvement and presence in the community
- To help the people we support with their budget to maximise choice and autonomy
- To make sure the people we support are involved in their own support planning and development.

Individuals are supported to do many activities, such as:

- Sheltered employment
- Volunteering
- A wide variety of leisure pursuits dependant on interests and choice
- Accessing local health care providers
- Community events
- Visiting family and friends, holidays
- Everyday household tasks like cooking, cleaning and paying bills.

We also offer supports through our Garden Project which is designed to promote a healthy lifestyle as well as having an educational and social focus.

Through participating in a range of gardening activities our garden project users learn about the care and cultivation of plants as well as interacting with each other and having the opportunity to take part in social activities.
