

Turning Point Scotland Angus Service

Turning Point Scotland Angus is available to provide support to individuals with a variety of support needs including learning disability, autism, mental health issues and community justice. We provide supported living services, housing support and day opportunities to promote independence and choice to individuals to enable them to access everyday life experiences including access to education, employment and social activities. We will also provide support with developing relationships and maintaining a home. We work in partnership with service users, their families, health teams, social work teams and advocates throughout Angus.

Turning Point Scotland Angus has dual registration with the Care Commission as a housing support and care at home service.

What we do

Each service user has a key worker who works with them and other significant people (families, advocacy, day care services). Person centred support plans are developed specific to each individual; these provide fine detail into the appropriate support that is provided for each person.

Through support plans service users will be supported in areas such as:

- Personal care skills
- Health (physical and mental wellbeing)
- Day support services including leisure activities
- Relationships and family contact
- Budgeting and support to manage finances
- Employment, work experience or voluntary placements
- Attending college
- Holidays

Support to individuals is provided by a staff team working across Angus. The support provided ranges from a few hours a day to full 24 hour support.

The amount of support provided varies depending on the needs of the individual and is agreed with Care Management teams and the individual.

Turning Point Scotland Angus works in partnership with Angus Council and the local community. Referrals can be made to our service through Angus social work team or through self-referral. We are happy to give advice on this process to anyone interested in our services.

Turning Point Scotland's Values and Service Principles

Dignity

People are valued as individuals with the right to have a voice and choices respected.

Privacy

People must have privacy and property respected.

Choice

People are supported to make informed choices and to achieve their personal goals.

Realising potential

We believe that people should be offered opportunities to achieve all that they can and make full use of all community resources.

Equality and Diversity

By offering equality of opportunity for all means we can value people regardless of ability, gender, faith, sexuality and ethnicity. Freedom from bullying, harassment and discrimination is our goal.

Flexibility

We will tailor support packages to suit the individuals' needs.

Partnership

We embrace a multi-agency approach to support and actively encourage positive networking.
